Community organizing
is fun!

being part of a community is so important

it can give you:

- a sense of belonging
- friends
- responsibility to others

there's so much bad stuff in the world

but you don't have to feel powerless

What do you care about?

What skills do you have?

What resources do you have access to?

other people care too

you just need to find them

You can start something new with your friends or find an existing organization to join

We need you!
